

STOVES!
Sold.

SELLINGRATH STREET.
ND RETAIL

ting Stoves, Timers' Trimming, Wines,
the popular selection,
the COOK, QUALITIES.

nia Cook,
Cook,"
"Excelsior Cook
"Capitol,"
"Capitol,"
"O. K.
MR PATTERNS.

Pipes, Steam Gauges
&c., &c.

am and Gas Fitters
anted Iron Cornices, Window
nd Drain Pipe

Atlanta, Georgia,
TUTT & BELLINGRATH.

IMPLEMENTS, &c.

ODRUFF & CO'S
HOUSE, Seed Store,

REPOSITORY, GEORGIA

OR THE PLANTING COMMUN-

ES. Friends' Friend Plan-

The best and cheapest chilled ground flour ever offered to our customers. Prices never exceed 50¢ per bushel. Write for samples.

BRINLEY'S GANG PLOW

Ride and Plow What You

Want. Improved Gang Plow and Cultivator. Write for samples.

THE WILSON

Shoe Department.

Old Bottlers, Coal Cutters, Portable

and Cobb Mills, Sewing Machine, and other Goods. Write for samples.

DR. THE MILLION,

Bushets Wheat, Rye, Oats and Barley

Worthington Bubbs, assorted, 5,000 Pounds cs and Buggies.

and Buggy Department.

and Fowls a Specialty.

ember, we keep a full assortment of ing Gunns. Also, ammunition and ammunition complete, furnished to correspondence from the difference that we can equip them in their firm in the South.

the finest Franklin Ordnance and the best. (Fowls Free) will be without one fine piece.

WOODRUFF & CO.,

Chants, Atlanta, Ga.

ION MERCHANT.

DEN, mission Merchant.

core Cotton.

use, situated IMMEDIATELY

the expense as well as injury sustained in the Northern, Eastern and South.

at Best Rates.

URNED TO MY CUSTOMERS,

Wheat, Oats, Rye, Flour, Sodas to prompt payment.

Western and Atlantic Railecially. A. LEYDEN.

nts.

TT & CO.

ERCHANTS,

campbell streets,

GEORGIA.

General Cash Advances made on shipments in New York and Liverpool.

NG & TIES TO PLANTERS.

urns GUARANTEED.

are Delivered. Sept 1-30.

LORING.

INCH'S

FASHION!

ck Building.

has an-store and arriving daily, a full fall and winter wear. A full stock of s and Coatings.

IALIZED

HIRT.

STEERING THEM IN QUALITY and DURABILITY.

AGE MATERIAL

WARE

ed Retail.

SCRATCHIN,

ALL STREET.

GEORGIA.

NAILS, Etc.

KIN IN THE SOUTH.

AKERS' WOOD WORK,

LE-SKEINS, ETC.

THE FINEST QUALITY

FONTS CELEBRATED

TING POWDER

50¢-1.00.

1.00-2.00.

2.00-3.00.

3.00-4.00.

4.00-5.00.

5.00-6.00.

6.00-7.00.

7.00-8.00.

8.00-9.00.

9.00-10.00.

10.00-11.00.

11.00-12.00.

12.00-13.00.

13.00-14.00.

14.00-15.00.

15.00-16.00.

16.00-17.00.

17.00-18.00.

18.00-19.00.

19.00-20.00.

20.00-21.00.

21.00-22.00.

22.00-23.00.

23.00-24.00.

24.00-25.00.

25.00-26.00.

26.00-27.00.

27.00-28.00.

28.00-29.00.

29.00-30.00.

30.00-31.00.

31.00-32.00.

32.00-33.00.

33.00-34.00.

34.00-35.00.

35.00-36.00.

36.00-37.00.

37.00-38.00.

38.00-39.00.

39.00-40.00.

40.00-41.00.

41.00-42.00.

42.00-43.00.

43.00-44.00.

44.00-45.00.

45.00-46.00.

46.00-47.00.

47.00-48.00.

48.00-49.00.

49.00-50.00.

50.00-51.00.

51.00-52.00.

52.00-53.00.

53.00-54.00.

54.00-55.00.

55.00-56.00.

56.00-57.00.

57.00-58.00.

58.00-59.00.

59.00-60.00.

60.00-61.00.

61.00-62.00.

62.00-63.00.

63.00-64.00.

64.00-65.00.

65.00-66.00.

66.00-67.00.

67.00-68.00.

68.00-69.00.

69.00-70.00.

70.00-71.00.

71.00-72.00.

72.00-73.00.

73.00-74.00.

74.00-75.00.

75.00-76.00.

76.00-77.00.

77.00-78.00.

78.00-79.00.

79.00-80.00.

80.00-81.00.

81.00-82.00.

82.00-83.00.

83.00-84.00.

84.00-85.00.

85.00-86.00.

86.00-87.00.

87.00-88.00.

88.00-89.00.

89.00-90.00.

90.00-91.00.

91.00-92.00.

92.00-93.00.

93.00-94.00.

94.00-95.00.

95.00-96.00.

96.00-97.00.</

DAILY CONSTITUTION.

THE LARGEST CIRCULATION
CITY, COUNTY AND STATE.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

To LADY.—A full report of the decisions of the Supreme Court is furnished to THE CONSTITUTION by the Reporter of the Court.

To Correspondents.—We do not receive anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are indispensable. Rejected communications we can not undertake either to return or preserve.

SUPERIOR COURT DECISIONS are now ready in pamphlet form, with table of cases and general index. At the last term decisions of very great importance were reported.

Address W. A. Hemphill & Co.

GENERAL ADVERTISING:
I. M. ACTON.

ATLANTA, GA.

Thursday Morning, Dec. 3, 1874.

BREVITIES.

It is to be "underlaid" instead of "chemical."

Of the eighteen persons who died in Richmond before last, seven were widowers.

"The eminent old dunkey" is what the St. Louis Democrat calls Judge Pollock.

Those old fashioned handkerchiefs big enough for any sort of nose, are coming back again.

"Dip me in water! I was here!" said the bawls to the fire. "Oh yes! I always contrive to get wind of you," was the reply.

The Union Pacific locomotives are the most extensive cattle raisers on the plains, and they generally trade them about every year.

French railways there is sensibly less travel on Fridays than on other days. Receipts for that day by comparison with other days are six to ten.

Graves of great men all around us. What leads the great railroads, But the wells will turn them.

Through the long neglect of time.

The official tiger-slayer to the Madras government is said to be pursuing his calling with vigor. He is a profiteer to the Indian who holds it, except when his calling takes to pursuing him.

English people are feasting John W. Forney because he said that the English girls era the best warriors in the world. When he returns to the country he will be received as a hero.

Sir George, the silver mine millionaire, whose daughter had the noblest wedding in San Francisco, the other day, that the Pacific Slopers have ever witnessed, sports at $100,000.

At this time the northern rural editor sits at his long legs in front of a cold stove and howls mournfully for wood. He is amazed at the scarcity with which his delinquent subscribers don't bring it in.

It is announced that General W. H. F. Lee will soon leave the white house farm on the Pamunkey river, Va., for Ravensworth, Fairfax county, and will hereafter make that place his permanent residence.

Drotter Free Press! It now turns out that one needn't make brain after all, and the Philadelphia editors who laid in a dozen barrels apiece for winter, will be almost mad enough to give it to the poor.

The Right Hon. Wm. E. Gladstone, ex-premier of England, whose remarkable career has been the subject of much discussion, has attached such world-wide attention recently read the lessons during divine service in the village church of Howard in Norfolk, North Wales.

A sensational religious event in San Francisco, was the participation by a Presbyterian, Unitarian, and Congregationalist clergyman, and a Universalist pastor. Several of the sectarian newspapers think that liberalism was carried too far.

Black alabamas are the latest fire-side diversions. Pictures clipped from illustrated publications are pasted in a scrap book, and the collector's scriptural knowledge is exercised in choosing an appropriate verse to write upon each cut. There are some excellent pictures are sometimes used.

Says the Figaro: "The carpet-wavers of Kidderminster are a many but, they demand the exclusion of women from the privilege of wearing the loom. The struggle for existence must be pretty severe in which the male animals rends her female."

Even a tiger will suffer a tigress to hunt in the bush.

Dr. Livingstone's memory is to be honored by the establishment at the southern end of Lake Nyassa of a missionary and commercial settlement, which will bear his name, and will be put into an ironclad slave-trading in that part of Africa. This settlement will be the work of the Church of Scotland and the Free Church.

Vicksburg Herald: "How you do, Sallie, how you do! I am seeing you in sick bed, how you do! How you do! Sallie, grasping the old dame's corn stalk and giving it a cordial shake. "She still a kicking, thank you, Uncle Tom, but I ain't a kicking high. How you gitting on, Uncle Tom, deliberately? Well, Sallie, I'm still sticking together—in spots."

They have excommunicated Ann Eliza, as will be seen from this notice published in the Deseret News. This is to certify that Ann Eliza Webb Young was cut off from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints by the high council, October 10, 1874, for having taken a man, her husband, Brigham in her for a long time, and will no longer cover the formal severance.

A countryman stepped into a dry goods store in Pulaski the other day and asked for a fine comb. It was handed out to him, together with the remark that it was a fine comb, and cost him ten cents to vest the tinsel in his hair. He reached down in his pocket and pulled out a nickel, carefully wrapped in a rag and presented it to the store keeper, saying, "I want to take that and wait for the balance until he sold his cotton. The countryman had no visible property upon which a mortgage could be placed, so he offered his bond or security or lien on the tinsel. He was obliged to inform him that he would either have to catch them with a curvy comb or break them with his hands, and as the comb was cotton, he departed, silently scratching his head—Pulaski City.

The statistician estimates the average crop of wheat in this country at 275,000,000 bushels, or about 5½ bushels per head of the present population. The amount of wheat consumed annually is 230,000,000 bushels, or about 5½ bushels per head, and our surplus supply of wheat is only 45,000,000 bushels. Great Britain and Ireland, with an area about equal to ours, produce more than one-third of the whole crop of the states and territories of the union, which yield is equal to 5½ bushels per head of the population of the country.

The consumption of the kingdom is estimated at 160,000,000 bushels a year, or 5½ bushels per head of the population. Therefore Great Britain will want 60,000,000 bushels, or twice as much as we have to sell, according to Mr. Delmar's figures. Other European countries have an advantage over us products, and also by their cheap labor.

Kosciusko Department News.

George W. Cobb and Martie Cobb, of Cobb county, George W. Mason of Columbia, and as members of the Board of Education, Marion county, Henry L. McGehee, Sorenson and William Newton, Wesley Hobby and Robert D. Sharp.

The Transit of Venus.

We hazard the assertion that the very few of our readers have thought, in connection with this much-discussed subject, what a wonderful thing it is that men are able to predict years and scores of years in advance the precise moment when a black head may be seen, from certain stated portions of the earth's surface, to slowly pass across the sun's disc. This fact is all the more wonderful when we consider the immensity of the orbits of the planets, their speed, and the gigantic magnitude of the bodies that are involved in the wonderful calculation. The very irregularity of these transits defuses the triumphs of science in this respect. The last transit of Venus occurred in 1761, the next occurs on the 8th of the present month; the next on the sixth day of May, 1878, and the next on the 7th day of June, 2004. The latter is altogether too far ahead to deeply interest us.

The transit of next week will not be visible in America. Its beginning may be seen in the dominions of King Kangas, and its after career can be observed in Australia, Borneo, and Asia, still far ending occurs in Egypt and Asia Minor.

The transit of 1878 will be visible in this country. The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

Several efforts have been made within the past few years, to secure a repeal of the law against usury, but each has so far failed, and the result is, that the legislature, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

In this connection, we call attention to a very particular view of the subject, which we find in the columns of the Greensboro Beacon. Says the Beacon:

The law against usury should be repealed, if a man believes he can profit by it, and for the protection of the legislator, we believe it was, the subject was lengthily considered, and for a time the practical effect of such a law was to lock the money coffers of the rich, against all except the rich.

Mr. J. M. Acton, of Atlanta, has submitted a paper to the editor of the Opellka Daily Times:

